

APPEAL IS MADE TO AGED BANKER'S KIDNAPERS

NEW YORK STATE POLICE ALONE IN O'CONNELL CASE

The Predicted Release Of Politicians' Kin Not Effected

Albany, N. Y., July 13—(AP)—With city and county authorities virtually stymied by order of the politically powerful O'Connell brothers, state police officers alone were reported today to be making vigorous efforts to track down the kidnapers of the Democratic leaders' nephew, John J. O'Connell, Jr., soldier and athlete, who was snatched six days ago.

Brothers Ed and Dan O'Connell and John J. (Solly) O'Connell, the 24-year-old six footers' father, clung to their preference to deal personally with the young man's abductors, while the grayclad troopers maintained a watch on the highways in Green county, which adjoins Albany county.

Police Ordered Out
Ordered into action by Governor Lehman, whose nomination last fall was opposed by the O'Connell clan, the state troopers kept an all night look out on the widely traveled motor lanes for an automobile resembling "the green car" in which police said young O'Connell was believed to have been whisked away by his captors.

Almost the entire force of state police in the Green county district favorite haven of retreat for the slain Jack (Leggs) Diamond and other Manhattan gangsters, has been assigned to the O'Connell case.

The search here for the heir to the O'Connell political domain has slowed up to a walk because anticipated contacts with the youth's abductors, who demanded $250,000 ransom, failed to materialize. It was reported that the O'Connells were ready to recover the hostage with ransom variously estimated at between $20,000 and $100,000.

STOCKS CLIMB TO NEW HIGHS IN DAY'S TRADE

Late Profit - Taking Reduced Some Advances on Exchange

New York, July 13—(AP)—Stocks smashed through to new highs today in the largest turnover of the bull market.

Extreme gains of $1 to more than $5 were general, but a number of special favorites outstripped that range.

Group after group swept into leadership of the rise. Alcohol stocks, aviation shares, utilities, rails and industrials boiled up feverishly until the rally was very broad. Late profit-taking reduced the advances.

Sales approximated 7,500,000 shares.

Stocks got little or no assistance from most leading commodities. Grains closed lower while cotton was sluggish virtually all day, although silver quotations, on both futures and spot metal, made new highs since 1930. Sugar futures reacted after making new peaks for the season.

Neither did the market derive much aid from dollar fluctuations which were narrowly irregular, with gold currencies largely off a bit.

High School Team Trophies Displayed

The many trophies which were won by members of the judging team of the vocational agriculture class of the Dixon high school, of which Prof. John Weiss is instructor, are on exhibition in the west display window at the Better Paint store. George Aschenbrenner has assembled the fine display of trophies which are attracting a great deal of attention. They include the large plaque which was the sweepstakes trophy, the silver cup won by Fred Benson, high individual in the several contests, and the many ribbons and other awards which were brought by the Dixon high school team.

New Judge Sits In Circuit Court

Judge Albert H. Manus of Freeport, newly elected to the circuit bench of this district, occupied the bench in the Lee county Circuit Court this morning for the first time. Judge Manus presided at a hearing in the quo warranto proceedings involving the much disputed Lee Center Community high school district, No. 251. Attorney E. E. Wingert filed demurrer proceedings and additional objections, the court allowing the relator's counsel, H. C. Warner, a sufficient time to file answers.

PLANS VACATION

Washington, July 13—(AP)—President Roosevelt made plans today to establish a summer White House near Poughkeepsie, New York.

He intends to leave here late in July for his family home at Hyde Park—just beyond Poughkeepsie on the Hudson river.

Almost all of August will be spent at the Hyde Park estate.

Factor Is Released By Kidnapers In LaGrange Last Night: Ill-Treated

Ransom Of $50,000 In Small Bills Brings Release

Chicago, July 13—(AP)—John Factor disclosed today that $50,000 was paid in $5 and $10 bills to his kidnapers as the price of his freedom.

"I suffered unbelievable tortures," Factor said, "which it is impossible for me to describe or for you to believe."

Awakened after a sleep of nearly 12 hours after being for twelve days a prisoner of a kidnapping band, he refreshed himself and shaved off the long growth of beard that gave evidence of his long captivity.

Factor asserted there must have been 20 men in the gang that seized him the morning of July 1, as he motored home from a night club.

He said he was struck in the face, bound, threatened with machine guns and driven near hysteria by the brutality and threats of his captors.

"There were so many men in the gang, and because my eyes were taped tightly from the start," Factor said, "that I would not be able to identify the kidnapers."

Sounded Intelligent
"Their voices were those of intelligent men. All I could see was a section of a hard wood floor."

"I was held on the second floor of a farmhouse, which I believe was about one and one half miles from LaGrange." (LaGrange is the suburb where Factor was released early today.)

"A ring which I sent to my family with a piece of paper bearing my signature was the only communication I sent out while I was held."

"The ransom was arranged in negotiations between friends of my family and friends of the kidnapers. It was paid in broad daylight outside of Chicago in five and ten dollar bills."

It was reported the $50,000 was a down-payment, and that a smaller amount would be paid later.

Factor told the story of the kidnapping to a newspaper man selected by a group of reporters and sent to his hotel room. He greeted the reporter while lying in bed, dressed in lavender striped pajamas, and appearing worn from his experience.

His son Jerome, also a victim of kidnapers two months ago, was in the room at the time, as was a younger son, Alvin, 7. At one time Factor said the kidnapers threatened him, saying:

"You're going for a ride—Your friends aren't keeping their word." The kidnapers originally demanded $500,000, but their demands were scaled down, he explained.

Asked if he would prosecute the kidnapers, Factor replied:

"What can I do? I couldn't recognize them. There's nothing I can do. I am in terrible shape physically. My legs are weak, my stomach is weak and I'm very nervous."

"I'm going to rest up, regain my health, and then go back to my business."

Resents Hoax Charge
Factor expressed his indignation over a charge by Attorney Overmyer representing the British crown, that the kidnapping was a fraud.

"All I can say is that I hope Overmyer and none of his family ever have to go through what I did."

Regarding the actual kidnapping, Factor said he would have attempted to elude the kidnaper in his automobile, but that his wife and a woman friend were following him in another automobile and that he feared for their safety. He said there were five men with machine guns at the time of the kidnapping and that he believed as many as twenty men were in the gang.

Factor's eyes twitched as if strained by the lights in the room after being blindfolded for twelve days. He tossed restlessly on the bed, and moved his arms and legs almost constantly. He had been shaved, and had summoned a barber for a much-needed haircut.

Factor said his friends and associates apparently did everything possible to obtain his release, and said he was deeply grateful to them.

Aviator, Flying To Dixon, Forced Down At Rochelle

P. A. Sturtevant, general manager of the Cedar Rapids Machine Company of that city, flying to Dixon from Chicago yesterday, experienced a very unusual accident, while passing over Rochelle when a piece of the propeller on his plane broke off causing the plane to vibrate with the result that the fuel line parted. He succeeded in reaching a field three miles east of Rochelle, in which he made a successful forced landing. Fortunately the gasoline from the broken fuel line did not catch fire from the heat from the motor.

Mr. Sturtevant is an experienced pilot and in last year's Cleveland air races placed eighth in the field of 72 entries. The damaged gas line was repaired and a new propeller was brought out from Chicago. Mr. Sturtevant landed at the Dixon Municipal airport yesterday afternoon and spent some time in Dixon, completing plans for installation of equipment for a modern automobile repair shop for the Dixon Auto Parts Company on Hennepin avenue. He proceeded to Cedar Rapids last evening.

ITALIAN PLANES LAND IN SHEDIAC, N. B. AFTER NOON

Lindberghs Kept Down By Fog Along Newfoundland Coast

Shediac, N. B., July 13—(AP)—The squadron of 24 Italian seaplanes en route for Chicago arrived here this afternoon from Cartwright, Labrador.

The first ship of the great air armada led by Air Minister General Italo Balbo came in Shediac Bay at 1:39 P. M. CST.

The other ships came in view behind their leader and maneuvered for position in the harbor.

LINDBERGH'S HELD UP

St. John's, Newfoundland, July 13—(AP)—Unfavorable flying weather along the Newfoundland coast prevented Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh from leaving here for Cartwright, Labrador, today on their aerial mapping expedition.

It was cold, wet and foggy when the Colonel arose and he said he would not take off until the weather cleared.

The famous flying couple had looked forward to meeting the Italian air fleet at Cartwright, but General Italo Balbo led his 24 seaplanes southward from that port today for Shediac, N. B.

The Lindberghs arrived here yesterday evening after a flight of 5 1/2 hours from Halifax.

Newfoundland welcomed Colonel Lindbergh as an old friend, for her inhabitants saw his monoplane, Paris-bound, speed eastward one May day six years ago.

At a reception in their honor he remarked that "When I first saw Newfoundland in 1927 I decided to visit it again." They were guests last night at the home of Colonel L. C. Outerbridge.

The steamer Jelling, with supplies and scientific apparatus for the survey of northern routes, is now at Cartwright.

OFFICIALS SEEK MOTIVE FOR KIDNAPING DOCTORS

St. Paul Police Mystified By Abduction Of Two Doctors

St. Paul, July 13—(AP)—A mystery woman and marked money entered the strange case of two doctors today, further entangling the web of circumstances surrounding the attempted mutilation of a St. Paul chiropractor.

The revelation was made by Dr. Walter Hedberg, 34, a chiropractor, while he was recovering from an attack by four men, who also abducted Dr. E. J. Engberg, prominent physician, in an effort to compel him to mutilate the chiropractor.

Dr. Hedberg told police that on July 5 a woman describing herself as Mrs. Irene Plazo came to his office asking that he perform an illegal operation.

Dr. Hedberg said he ascertained both the name and the address given by the woman were fictitious.

Questioned Woman

"I questioned her about who sent her up there, and she just kept saying she saw a sign in the window and came up there, and then she said 'here's $25. There's a lot more where this came from, but that's all I can get my hands on now.'"

"She took the money out. I looked her up in the directory, but couldn't find either the name or number so I told her you gave the wrong name. I will tell you what I'll do. If you will tell me who sent you up here I will let you off free, but you are guilty of a crime trying to bamble me."

Hedberg then asked the woman if a man he suspected of being an enemy of his, had sent her. She blushed, he said, and hurried out.

Money Was Marked

Police investigated Dr. Hedberg's hint that another medical man might have had something to do with the case, but said the chiropractor's fears along that line were groundless.

"That night I was looking at the money she left and I saw a piece of ink on the bills and I discovered all of them were marked," he told police.

"I thought maybe I had better go to the County Attorney's office so then I thought it over and then I went to see Captain Herman Van Olphen of the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, but he wasn't home."

Although it was established that Dr. Engberg was kidnaped in an attempt to force him to mutilate Dr. Hedberg, police said Dr. Hedberg continued to insist that he did not have any idea who perpetrated the attack or what motive inspired it.

However, Dr. Joel C. Hultkrans and Dr. Robert Earl, who are treating Dr. Engberg, said they

C. C. DIRECTORS ENDORSE PLANS FOR GOV'T. AID

Approved Applications For New Bridge And Road To Lowell

The Board of Directors of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce at their meeting this week, endorsed the application of the city of Dixon to the federal administration and state Department of Public Works and Buildings for the grant of funds under the provisions of the national recovery act, in the program of improvements outlined for the city.

Foremost in this program are the proposed new Galena avenue bridge and the Lowell park road.

The proposal to build a new road of superior alignment, starting at the east end of Dixon avenue in Rock Falls and continuing easterly conforming to the survey of the proposed bond issue, route 71, connection with route 70 in the east end of the county, was referred to the good roads committee for further investigation.

The financial report for the month of June and the budget comparison were submitted by Secretary Miss Frances Patrick and accepted. Under the activities report, it was shown that 103 tourists applied at the Chamber of Commerce for information during the last month, these being from Canada, Texas, California, Massachusetts, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Indiana, Missouri, Arizona and other points.

Got Many Inquiries
A total of 147 persons requesting general information visited the office during last month and 296 telephone calls for information were responded to, in addition to 107 letters on general information from the offices of President George Beier and Secretary Miss Patrick, which did not include minigraphed forms. Eight positions for house and farm work were also furnished by the Chamber in June.

The directors voted unanimous appreciation of the work done by Commissioner A. C. Moeller of the Department of Public Property, in renovating and redecorating the building used by the Chamber of Commerce.

Six important meetings were held during June, it was reported; new furniture was purchased for the rest room, the two bulletin boards at the city limits on the Lincoln Highway were re-painted with messages calling attention to Lincoln's activities in the community; the gold sign at the office was re-lettered and the Chamber began cooperation with Pace, Inc., an industrial locating bureau.

ARE ASKED TO ALLOW HIM TO REASSURE WIFE

Alton Authorities Are Withdrawn To Permit Negotiation

BULLETIN

Alton, Ill., July 13—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner today offered Mayor Thomas Butler of Alton as many state policemen as needed to search for August Luer, aged banker, and his kidnapers. The Governor said state authorities would give the fullest cooperation to Alton and Madison authorities in the case.

Alton, Ill., July 13—(AP)—A public appeal to the kidnapers of August Luer, wealthy 77-year-old banker and meat packer, to allow him to communicate with his wife and relieve her anxiety over his health was made today by the two agents appointed by the Luer family to deal with the abductors.

Mrs. Luer, 75 year old, was described in the statement as "in an extremely nervous and distressed condition" because of worry over her husband's delicate health. He is a sufferer from heart disease and subject to frequent smothering attacks likely to prove fatal, physicians said, if he is roughly handled.

Luer had been in captivity for 60 hours at the time the appeal was made by O. S. Catt and Lawrence Keller, Jr., employees of the Luer family in their bank and meat packing plant.

Have Had No Word

Catt and Keller, appointed yesterday as police agencies withdrew from the case to facilitate communication with the kidnapers, said today they had no word from Luer's abductors.

They said the family is prepared to pay a ransom but it must not be large. The banker is short of cash, they said, due to recent business reverses, particularly that in which he spent more than $135,000 buying back from friends the bonds of the defunct Barium Products Company, which had been sold with his guarantee as to their worth as investments.

As the hours passed without the appearance of the aged semi-invalid victim of two men and woman who seized him in his own home Monday night, sources close to his family gave guarded indication that contact had been established with the abductors.

Keller, an officer of a bank of which Luer was president, and Catt, manager of a Luer-owned meat packing plant, the designated "contact" men, declined to comment on their activities.

Officers Withdrew
They were named by the sons of the missing banker to treat with the kidnapers after police withdrew from the case. The police action was at the request of

Offices In Eight Cities Planned

Washington, July 13—(AP)—William George Donnell newly-appointed Home Loan Administrator for Illinois today was completing arrangements preparatory to returning to Chicago where he intends to open state offices immediately.
Donnell, manager of the business department of the Chicago City Bank & Trust Company, said his first step after that probably would be establishment of from eight to ten district offices in cities such as Peoria, Quincy, Decatur, Rock Island, Danville, Bloomington, Aurora, Springfield and East St. Louis.
Donnell said he was convinced many benefits would be available to Illinois home owners under the Home Loan Act.
He said he had not been told to give prior notice to applications received from home owners whose mortgages were held by closed banks.

Navy Complies With

An Unusual Request

Washington, July 13—(AP)—Supplying a German ship officer with the words to "Old Kentucky Home" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" is an unusual service just done by the Navy's hydrographic office which charts the seas of the world.
Along with a report recently received from Alexandria, Egypt, by an officer of a German tanker, was this letter:
"There is a record in my possession which plays the following two songs: 'My Old Kentucky Home' and 'Carry Me Back to Old Virginia.' Unfortunately now it is impossible for me to understand the words. This is often regretted, the melody being very nice. I will thank you for providing me with the words of both of these songs—I am sure to say my other American acquaintances out here could not assist me."
The request was filled.

Society NOTES

Dixon College Reunion Will Be Held Sept. 22, 23

The 1933 reunion of the Dixon College Alumni Association will be held in Dixon Friday and Saturday, September 22 and 23. It was unanimously voted at a meeting of a dozen of former students who were guests of Dr. E. S. Murphy, president of the association at the Nachusa Tavern at noon today. The selection of the site of the many previous delightful gatherings of the college alumni organization took preference over the Century of Progress in Chicago.

A suggestion that the reunion this year be held at the Illinois building on the Century of Progress grounds was strongly opposed, from the standpoint of lack of attendance and the possibility that but a very limited number would attend the sessions. County Judge Russell of Princeton, headed the opposition to the Chicago suggestion and stated that those who looked forward each year to the dates for the alumni gatherings, anticipated a return to the scenes of the college days in Dixon.

It was decided that no definite program would be arranged for Sunday, Sept. 24, and that this day be set aside for the alumni to spend in visiting or returning to their homes. The dates for the annual meeting were set for the latter part of September to provide ample time for the return of the president, Dr. E. S. Murphy from his European trip this fall.

Farmers Reduced Production Costs During Last Year

Washington, July 13—(AP)—Farmers brought their production costs during 1932 to the lowest point in more than a decade.

The Department of Agriculture reported yesterday that the average cost of producing corn last year including land rent, was 49 cents a bushel compared with 61 in 1931; wheat an average of 75 cents or well below average market prices last year, compared with 77 cents in 1931; oats 3 cents compared with 42 in 1931 and cotton nine cents per pound of lint, or slightly less than the year before.

The cost figures include allowances of a sum for labor of farmers and a charge for the use of his land.

The Department said they represented "approximate" figures, and that there were sharp variances between farm regions.

MOLEY RETURNS FROM ENGLAND: WILL NOT TALK

Assistant Secretary Of State Refuses Any Information

New York, July 13—(AP)—Professor Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretary of State, returned from the London economic conference today and reserved whatever he had to say for the ears of the President.

Accompanying him on the liner Manhattan were Herbert Bayard Swope, his personal adviser, Oliver S. W. Sprague, economic adviser to the American delegation, and Edmund Day, technical adviser.

After the liner reached Quarantine Moley shut himself up in his cabin and typed out a 50 word statement for publication, which he distributed.

His stenographic efforts were captioned "Statement of Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretary of State, July 13, 1933, and said:

"I have been on the water for a week, together with my associate, Herbert Bayard Swope, who accompanied me at the President's request, and our knowledge of the recent developments in London is less than your here. Concerning my stay in London, where I was for just a week, I shall report with Mr. Swope at Washington to the State Department and, of course, to the President."

Following that the Professor paralled questions with "I wouldn't want to answer that." "I have no opinion on that." "You know as much about it as I do, or 'I can't say anything about that.'"

MENU FOR V. F. W. BY MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

LEMON CAKE PIE

(Serving Four.)

Cold Sliced Tongue Potato Salad Creamed Asparagus Bread Raspberry Jam Lemon Cake Pie Coffee

Boiled Tongue

1 beef tongue
 1 bay leaf
 4 whole cloves
 2 celery leaves
 1 onion slice
 2 quarts cold water
 Scrub tongue and cut off fibers and fleshy portions. Add rest of ingredients, cook in covered pan over low fire until tongue is very tender when tested with fork. It will require at least 2 hours to cook. Remove tongue from boiling mixture and when cool enough to handle remove skin. Cool and chill. Cut in thin slices, then garnish with lemon quarters and parsley.

Potato Salad

1-2 cups diced boiled potatoes
 2 hard cooked eggs, diced
 1-3 cup diced cucumbers
 1-3 cup diced celery
 1 tablespoon hopped parsley
 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
 1-2 teaspoon salt
 1-4 teaspoon paprika
 1-3 cup salad dressing
 Mix and chill ingredients, serve in cups of crisp lettuce leaves.

Raspberry Jam

4 cups berries
 4 cups sugar
 Thoroughly inspect berries and wash well in quantities of cold water. Add sugar and boil quickly for 20 minutes. Stir with wooden spoon. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Lemon Cake Pie

1 cup sugar
 3 tablespoons flour
 1-8 teaspoon salt
 1-3 cup lemon juice
 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
 3 egg yolks
 1-3 cup water
 3 egg whites, beaten.
 Blend sugar, flour and salt. Add juice, rinds, yolks and water. Cook slowly in double boiler until mixture thickens a little. Stir constantly. Fold in whites, pour into baked pie shell. Bake 20 minutes in slow oven. Cool. Top with whipped cream and serve.

For best results, when covering scalloped mixtures with buttered crumbs, melt the butter and blend it well with the crumbs before sprinkling over the foods.

Adult Education Need Of People, Says Professor

Chicago, July 13—(AP)—Adult education to occupy increased leisure resulting from a shorter week and shorter working hours is necessary, said Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, New York lecturer, to save our complicated industrial civilization from collapse.

Dr. Bestor spoke today before the biennial convention of the National Business & Professional Women's Clubs—the second of only two men selected to appear on the gathering's varied programs of more than a hundred women speakers.

Knowledge was formerly the possession of the prosperous and successful, Dr. Bestor said, but now it has become necessary for the mass of mankind.

"We have developed an economic civilization beyond the power of the ordinary and accepted forces of education to sustain. Therefore continuous adult education is absolutely necessary."

Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman of Richmond, Va., was renominated for the presidency of the National Federation by the nominating committee. Others placed before the convention by the committee for other offices include Mrs. Pearl E. Warwick, Champaign, Ill., Treasurer.

Borden married his second wife, who was Mrs. Mary Courtney Letts Stillwell, twice previously married in 1925, after his first wife had divorced him in 1924.

The first wife, who was Ellen Waller, daughter of a Gold Coast family, six months ago married John Alden Carpenter, broker and musician.

Measures League Women Supported

The Executive Committee of the Illinois League of Women Voters at its meeting recently released a comprehensive statement on the measures which it supported during the session of the 58th General Assembly.

Chief among these is the resolution which provides putting a referendum on the ballot in 1934 on the question of calling a constitutional convention. Illinois' outgrown constitution is the cause of many of her economic ills and of practically all of her revenue problems, and the league believes a constitutional convention is not only necessary but inevitable.

Ratification of the federal Child Labor Amendment, which passed both houses literally at the last moment, is one of the significant pieces of social legislation enacted by the General Assembly. If the amendment is ultimately ratified by a sufficient number of states and becomes part of the federal constitution, it will not affect Illinois standards, as they are above any contemplated federal minimum, but ratification by such an important industrial state will have great effect on public sentiment.

A number of other Child Welfare measures of considerable importance on which the League has done some hard work are: the famous "Baby Blindness" bill, making it mandatory to instill silver nitrate into the eyes of new born babies to prevent blindness; the two bills revising the adoption law so as to remove all reference to illegitimacy and providing new birth certificates for illegitimate children when the parents marry; the measure which sets up a commission to study the problems of the physically handicapped; that making it permissible for boys and girls who are inmates of the St. Charles and Geneva training schools to be boarded out; and the bill providing for licensing and inspecting child welfare agencies and boarding houses.

Among measures endorsed by the League, which are designed to make the structure of government more efficient, and which had a more successful passage are: the bill reducing the number of members on the Tax Commission, the Parole Board and the Commerce Commission; the bill making county surveyors appointive instead of elective, thus shortening the ballot, and the bill which makes it easier to change from the township form of county government to the commission form by requiring fewer names for the petition to get a referendum on the ballot.

The League is most gratified that the appropriation was renewed for the School Distributive Fund, a principle of state aid it has long supported; and that a commission has been provided to establish minimum wage scales for women and children in industry, another measure it has advocated for some years.

The fourth community concert given by the Dixon Boys Band under the direction of Russell Mason, at Brady Village last evening, proved a huge success. A mottled suntan is nothing to brag about. Much better not to go in for suntan than to get splashed.

A girl who achieves her suntan in a bathing suit that ends somewhere around the shoulder blades and then appears in a low-necked evening dress that shows her untanned back below the rich glowing skin is, alas, no infrequent sight.

The thing to do is to go at suntan gradually, as I have always urged. But do it thoroughly! You can't get the upper insides of your arms, for instance, properly suntanned without actually turning them to the sun the proper number of hours to enrich their skin as the forearm is enriched in tone.

Nor can you get that under-the-chin part of you the right brown to go with your neck and nose without uplifting your face, properly covered, while your under-the-chin tans.

The best way to get an even suntan is to use one of the popular suntan oils. Spread this all over your skin before you venture forth. Then, remembering the way a rotisserie browns its chickens, turn yourself about methodically, exposing the portions of your neck, arms and shoulders that need it most. The best way to get your back really brown is to wear a halter-strapped pajama suit. You can so easily loosen the top of the halter strap while lying on your stomach.

Take this sun-tanning easily. But do a thorough job from the first.

Helps for Housewives

Simple Refreshments Make Out-Door Parties Different.

Informal parties, with refreshments prepared out of doors or in the garage or recreation room, are winning favor. Scrambled eggs, fried eggs and ham, hamburgers or baked beans, with coffee, as salad and dessert make a suitable menu. Sandwiches, buttered biscuits, and muffins or rolls can also be served. If an outdoor fire or a fire place is available the guests can toast meat squares, filled buns or sandwiches.

Don't "Make Over" Child Before Teatime Visitors

If you allow your children to come in for grown-up afternoon tea don't make them the center of attraction. It is embarrassing for them and for the outside visitors. Have them speak nicely to the visitors and then partake of some toothsome bit of refreshment. Do not discuss them before visitors. Children have a vague feeling that this is disloyal.

A Preserving Tip

To keep preserves from spoiling, after filling the jars and allowing them to become cool, try covering with olive oil. Nor need you be afraid that the oil will permeate the jelly, for oil and sweet water, which is the basis of a jelly, will not mix. Then cover your jars with ordinary covers and you can use at any time.

Housekeeping Hints

When making sandwiches soften the butter by creaming with a fork and then add a little cream. This will make the butter spread easily. Use firm fresh fruit for jelly making, and underripe in preference to over-ripe. The property in fruit which causes it to jelly is more abundant in under ripe than over ripe fruit. Make French dressing in a bottle, cork tightly and store it in the ice box for future use. Shake it well before using. Mint gelatin colored green and to which pineapple and celery have been added makes an attractive and tasty summer salad.

Princes Will Not Contest Suits By Respective Wives

Paris, July 13—(AP)—Prince Serge Mdivani said today that neither he nor his brother, Prince David, intends to contest suits for separation brought by their wives, Mary McCormic, the opera singer, and Mae Murray, film actress.

Both husbands, he added, retain for the wives "friendliness and a feeling of admiration."

The Princes, members of Georgian nobility, will leave for the United States on the liner Europa Saturday to resume their oil business. Prince Serge denied they had had any difficulties in getting visas.

Mae Murray, film actress is suing Prince David for divorce and Mary McCormic, the opera singer, seeks separate maintenance from her husband, Prince Serge.

RIGHTS OF LABOR FORM TEST OF "NEW DEAL."

One of the things the events of the summer are bound to show us is just how progressive—or, if you prefer the word, how radical—the national administration really is.

So far, its actions and policies ought to satisfy the most liberal of citizens. It has put progressives in important government positions. It has gone ahead with such progressive operation of Muscle Shoals. Most important of all, it has erected a vast framework which is the very essence of daring progressivism for the control of industry, the expansion of employment and the raising of wages and commodity prices.

What remains to be seen is how it will act under that framework.

The tip-off on this is very likely to come in connection with the administration's attitude toward organized labor under the industrial control law.

In its outlines, that law is all that the most ardent progressive could desire. Every worker is to be free to join a labor union of his own choosing. He is to get direct representation, in all disputes over pay, hours and other working conditions, before a government board which is empowered to make its ruling stick.

But there are rumblings along the horizon. Some of the very largest industries in the country have never had any use for organized labor; and spokesmen for certain of these industries have been hinting pretty broadly that they don't propose to change their policy now, no matter what the new law says. Some of them are working feverishly to organize dummy company unions, by means of which they could thwart their employees' desire for self-expression in labor disputes. Others are evicting employees who join unions and blacklisting men who try to organize them.

Before very long one of these industrialists is going to collide head-on with the industrial recovery law.

FROM CHARITY TO JOBS.

For a graphic picture of what an industrial revival really means to the people most directly concerned—the unemployed working men—you might cast an eye at recent events in Youngstown, O.

Youngstown is a steel town, and until a very short time ago the depression was almost crushing the life out of it. But the mills are operating almost at normal levels now, and business is beginning to hum; and during June the Youngstown charities released a total of 8000 persons from their rolls.

Furthermore, a good many of the people who were subsisting on charity a month or so ago are now driving about town in new automobiles. Their bills are paid, they have new clothes, they can look any man in the eye again. On top of that, the things they are buying are creating new employment in a dozen other cities.

It makes a tremendously cheering picture.

RUSSIA'S COURSE AT LONDON.

When you consider the abortive London conference, it becomes evident that one nation really did accomplish something definite there. That nation is that international outcast, Soviet Russia.

Russia had precious little interest in currency stabilization measures, and not much more interest in trade embargoes or tariff agreements. But while the other nations involved were fruitlessly jockeying for advantage on those points, the Russians settled their quarrel with England, effected a new pact smoothing out a troubled situation along their southwestern frontier and came within shouting distance of recognition by the United States.

For the other delegates the conference was little more than a trip to London, a chance to do some debating and an opportunity to meet lots of interesting people. For the Russians, however, it was a big opportunity—and the Russians seem to have made the most of it.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"The skinnyscout birds are real slick. They have pulled off quite a clever trick in letting us drag in the water." Duncy loudly cried.

"I think, though, that we've had enough. The water's getting rather rough. I wish we'd rise up in the air and have another ride."

It seemed the two birds understood. They rose as quickly as they could and once more all the Tynymites were being whizzed through space.

"Gee, how long is this going to last? I wish they wouldn't go so fast," said Doty. "You would think that both the birds were in a big race."

"Aw, this is fun," cried Windy. "I am used to sailing through the sky. The birds will soon tire out themselves, and then they will have to stop."

"When ever they rest, we'll do the same. I'm certain we'll be glad we came. We're bound to reach a strange place if we hang on and don't drop."

Another Tynymite said, "What is it that I see ahead?" "Some-great big rocks," cried wee Scouty "and that is where we are heading for."

"Perhaps that's where the birds will land, and if they do we'll have to stand out in the sun. Gee, I'll bet we'll sunburn till we're very sore."

The birds swooped down and fooled the bunch. Wee Duncy cried, "I had a hunch that this was going to happen. Now we're in an awful fix."

"Each bird is in a different place and we are hanging down in space. They knew what they were doing. It's another of their funny tricks."

The Tynymites hung out in the air and Scouty soon said, "Look down there. A small stream is below us so here's where I do something very rash."

"I am going to let go of this rope. It seems that is our only hope." And when he did, the others followed, making quite a big splash.

Tragedy, Gayety Mark Progress of Italy's Air Armada

Episodes that evoked tears as well as cheers in the historic flight of Italy's air armada to Chicago, are shown in this pictorial diary of the expedition's flight across the Atlantic. On arriving at Londonderry, Ireland, General Italo Balbo, leader, was acclaimed by 10,000. He is shown, upper left conversing with some of the colleens who strewed flowers and rose petals in his path. The crack-up of one of the armada's seaplanes at Amsterdam (lower right) causing the death of one aviator, did not deter the armada from lining up again (center) for Londonderry.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE EXAMPLE

OF DEBORAH

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of The Congregationalist

Three lessons of this quarter's series in Old Testament character studies are devoted to women.

We think of women's emancipation as having taken place in our own day, and for the most part we look over a record in history which is mainly one of a virtual enslavement, in which women have not only been heavy burden-bearers, but in which they have also been in subjection, with little place or influence, except the immense influence that they have exercised through motherhood and the training of the young.

This, however, is not the whole story. There are students of the primitive life who maintain that the clew to the early history of the race is in the power exercised by woman, and even in periods where women generally had little part in public life or activities there have emerged great figures whose personality and influence were strong enough to burst all barriers of limitation either of sex or of custom.

Such a woman was Deborah. We do not know a great deal about the details of her life. What we have is a dramatic portrayal of her in her strength of character, and her forcefulness in action, though we are not told just how she came to be what she was.

Deborah was a prophetess. In some way she had convinced the people of her wisdom and her strength of character, and the palm tree under which she dwelt in the hill country of Ephraim became a place where the people sought judgment.

Whether she had been formally appointed judge in Israel, or whether her sheer strength of character had elevated her naturally into that place we do not know, but she was the most vigorous character in Israel and the savior of her people in a time of crisis.

In striking contrast with Deborah's strength was the weakness and carelessness of the people. Through their moral slackness evil came upon them. Sisera, the captain of the host of Jabin, king of Canaan, had 900 chariots of iron, and for 20 years he harassed and oppressed these slack and craven Israelites, weakened by their sin and indifference.

Out of this situation of distress and peril to her people, Deborah emerged as their hope and their leader.

She sent for Barak, a man in whom she discerned the qualities of a leader, and she ordered him to gather a company of men to Mount Tabor, while she, with strategy, would lure Sisera and his army into a situation where Barak could effectively attack them.

Here emerges a strange situation that emphasizes the character and influence of Deborah. Barak flatly refused to go unless Deborah went with him, to which Deborah responded that she would go, but that Barak would lose all the non-combatants through seeing Sisera sold into the hand of a woman.

However, with Deborah's support Barak sprang into action. He gathered 10,000 men to Tabor, and Deborah went up. And the rest of the lesson is the song of Deborah and Barak rejoicing in the victory that came to them.

UNEMPLOYMENT CONSIDERED AT LONDON PARLEY

U. S. Delegation Asks for Resolution Urging Shorter Hours

London, July 13 — (AP) — The American delegation presented a resolution to the economic commission of the world economic conference today calling for shorter hours of labor and an increase in wages in proportion to the rise in prices.

Sam D. McReynolds of Tennessee submitted the proposal on behalf of the United States group.

Its preamble declared that the unemployment situation is "one of the greatest problems the governments are confronted with at this time."

Premier Hendryx Colijn of Holland, chairman of the commission, announced the introduction at a public meeting this morning.

The text of the American resolution follows:

Text of Resolution
"Representatives of the powers participating in this conference, considering that unemployment and consequent great distress are now prevalent throughout the world, considering that existence of this situation is one of the gravest problems with which governments are confronted at present,

"Declare that they view with favor lessened hours of labor and a rising scale of wages which should increase in proportion to the augmentation of productivity."

Efforts were made today to smooth out yesterday's rift over the American refusal to discuss central banking policies. Experts set to work trying to change the text so as to make it acceptable to the Federal Reserve Board.

Seek Middle Ground
Dr. Victor Kienbock of Austria, chairman of the committee dealing with this subject, said he believed there was much exaggeration of the episode and that it was possible to find a middle ground on which the Federal Reserve authorities would agree to stand.

Gold bloc delegates, however, insisted that the incident was closed by the decision to adjourn discussion of bank policy.

Senator Key Pittman of Nevada suggested a substitute for his resolution aimed at the rehabilitation of silver. He placed his substitute before the sub-committee which had been discussing his proposal.

The new measure differs from the original mainly in that it provides no specific percentage for central bank currency reserves which should be carried in silver. The original provided that one-fifth of the reserves might be carried in silver.

The substitute does not affect the gold section of Pittman's original resolution.

Injured Cowboy Film Star and New 'Girl Friend'

Two wrecks, it seems, have occurred recently in the career of Hoot Gibson, cowboy film star—one when he smashed his airplane during a race at Los Angeles and the other when his marriage to Sally Eilers, movie actress, went on the rocks. Anyway, here is Gibson, recovering in a Los Angeles hospital from injuries received in the plane smash-up, as he shows a picture of the wreckage to his new girl friend, June Gale, 21-year-old San Francisco actress, with whom he admits he is "madly in love." Gibson announced that he and Miss Eilers, recently returned from Europe, plan a divorce.

REVEALS SENATE KILLED SINNETT PROTECTION ACT

So says Dr. Morris Fishbein, the widely-read editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, in "Frontiers of Medicine," a readable little handbook in the new Century of Progress series.

This book is simply an outline of medical history, an exposition of the development by mankind of the art of healing from the primitive hocuspocus of the medicine man to the scientific technique of the modern hospital.

Medical history, says Dr. Fishbein, really begins with Hippocrates, about 300 B. C. Some four centuries later Galen became medicine's dominating figure, remaining such for 1200 years. Then, as people began to emerge from the superstition and tradition of the middle ages, came the development of anatomy, of physiology, of more exact knowledge about the body and its secrets, leading up to the great era which began in the nine-

REVEALS SENATE KILLED SINNETT PROTECTION ACT

Parliamentary Move Resulted In Defeat Of Bill

Springfield, Ill., July 13—(AP)—The Illinois legislature failed to pass the bills recommended by the Sinnett investigating committee and Attorney Otto Kerner to protect investors in mortgage bonds from wasteful foreclosures and receiverships.

Kerner today had proclaimed that the two bills introduced by Rep. Thomas P. Sinnett, Rock Island Democrat, were killed in the Senate just before adjournment two weeks ago by a parliamentary maneuver to reconsider the vote by which they had passed.

The motion to reconsider was made by Senator A. A. Huebsch, Brookfield Republican.

Kerner issued a statement reviewing the investigations of defaulted bond issues and the activities of bondholders' committees, approving the proposed legislation and describing the opposition.

The bills would have placed a new official to be known as the Superintendent of Mortgage Loans and Investments, in charge of foreclosures and receiverships.

HASTE DESIRED IN SUBMITTING WORKING CODES

The Administrator Plans Strenuous Drive To Get Action

Washington, July 13 — (AP) — The recovery administration is over, and from the middle of next week on there will be an unending succession of hearings on codes raising wages and limiting hours in industries big and little.

Two reasons virtually guarantee this continuity. Principally, industrialists are getting down to brass tacks on the voluntary agreements, the terms wanted by President Roosevelt are becoming generally understood, the three weeks or so that have elapsed since the law passed have seen many hesitant business convinced that the thing to do is to come ahead, and the willing ones who had skull-cracking problems are getting around them.

Next, Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, realizing how essential it is to the country's workers are to have the desired big increase in purchasing power before cold weather, has decided to open the throttle.

For Early Hearings
Every time a code comes in, he orders a hearing on the first date possible under the requirement of "reasonable notice" to all concerned. Where a week will do, seven days is all the notice given. Otherwise ten days or so. If codes contain unacceptable terms he sets a hearing anyhow, trusting to work out something suitable at the conference table, under the public eye.

The lull in the promulgation of codes occurred because only one industry—cotton textiles—went to work as soon as the industrial control law was sent to Congress. The rest waited, and had to start organizing their self-government scheme and figuring higher returns for labor three weeks ago.

Others Are In
Now lumber, shipbuilding, electrical manufacture are in. The steel code is expected momentarily. Coal codes are in prospect, Johnson says; builders, general contractors and many others are about ready.

Johnson is thinking of issuing a call for all codes, preliminary ones dealing principally with wages and hours of work by a definite date. Already he needs more auditorium space than is available in the Commerce Department building where the administration is quartered, so the electrical hearing will be held on Capitol Hill.

It is conceivable that almost every public auditorium in the city will be in use before many more days.

Tells How She Lost 15 Lbs. of FAT

Rheumatism Gone Too

Here is a woman who was rapidly putting on weight and who was troubled with rheumatism too. Read her letter:

"I started taking Kruschen Salts because of the good it had done for a friend of mine who had been crippled with rheumatism. At the end of the second bottle I was weighed and find I am now only 148 pounds (original weight 163 lbs.), at which I am so pleased. But I have also felt my rheumatism much less, which has been so troublesome in my knees. I must say I think Kruschen a splendid weight reducer." (Miss) E. L. P.

Overweight and rheumatic poisoning often go together. The s.x salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—little by little that ugly fat goes slowly, yes—but surely. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life!

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all drug stores—a jar lasts four weeks and costs not more than 85c.

Women Escape Blazing Plane

Here is the charred skeleton of an airplane from which two women escaped alive when it crashed on a high tension electric wire at Indianapolis and burned. Mrs. Lenore Harper, 32, pilot, and her passenger, Mrs. Hazel Frink, 23, are recovering from burns and bruises received when they dropped from the flaming wreckage into a pool of blazing gasoline 30 feet below.

Stands by Mate Held in Slaying

Clasping her 15-month-old son, Mrs. Bertha Callahan, above, of Pittsburgh, Pa., repeatedly cried "I won't believe it unless he tells me so himself," as she prepared to defend her husband against charges that he beat to death a former bride. Pittsburgh police held the husband, "Bob" Callahan, left, on charges of murder, pending against him at Long Beach, Calif., under the name of Lee Dan. Murphy. The Callahans were married two years ago and have been drifting about the country ever since. Police say Callahan had not divorced his first wife when he married the second, who was found dead at Long Beach, a bride of 27 days. His present wife is his third.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH IS HELD

Gratifying Progress In Past Year Shown In The Reports

The annual congregational meeting of the First Christian church was held last evening with a good representation of the membership in attendance. The reports of the various departments showed a year of gratifying progress. Approximately $600,000 was raised and disbursed by the various departments.

The Bible school, superintended by James G. Leach, made a record of growth which surpassed all former records. The average attendance for the year was 282. The highest record for any month was in May when the average was 366. The average for the last quarter of the year was 340. The school raised $737.00 or which sum $228.96 were devoted to missions and benevolences.

The report of the church clerk showed a splendid increase in membership. During the twelve months ending July 1, seventy-four were added by baptism and twenty-one transfer of membership, a total of ninety-five. The present membership of the congregation is 851.

The pastor, Rev. James A. Barnett read a brief report which showed that he must have put in a busy year. Following is a brief summary:

Sermons at the church 83
Sermons elsewhere 55
Special addresses 28
Funerals conducted 22
Wedding ceremonies 13
Conventions attended 7
Pastoral calls 599

During the two years and one month of Rev. Barnett's pastorate he has received into the membership of the local church 259 members.

Officers Elected
The annual election of officers resulted in the re-election for a term of three years of James G. Leach, James Patch and C. B. Rhodes, as elders; E. M. Detweiler, G. S. Parks, J. E. Rooker, Everett Reese and Dr. C. E. Smith and J. R. Nettz as trustees. Ushers for a term of one year were elected as follows: William Lindsey, Charles Rice, Fred Barnhizer, Edwin Patch, Glenn Padgett and Glenn Flanagan. H. W. Stauffer was elected to two offices—church clerk and treasurer.

Special Numbers
Dr. C. E. Smith, chairman of the church board, and presiding officer of the meeting, interspersed the monitory of the numerous reports by the program committee composed of Mrs. J. E. Reagan, Leona Ott and Clinton Fahney. Miss Lois Fellows and Miss Marian Quasco sang a sacred duet which was highly appreciated. Miss Ethel Seyster gave a humorous reading which pleased the audience greatly. Wilson Orgtleson, pupil of Mr. Fahney, presided at the organ and rendered a solo which gave much pleasure to all.

The pastor distributed baptismal certificates to all who have been received since January 1. Fifty certificates were awarded. Following the adjournment refreshments were served in the basement parlors which were tastefully decorated with gladioli furnished by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Taylor. A delightful social hour was enjoyed under the skillful direction of the refreshment committee composed of Mrs. Gail Stauffer, Mrs. H. W. Taylor, Mrs. Nellie Palmer and Mrs. John Fellows.

ALLOCATION OF $66,000,000 TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Public Works Program Approved By President Yesterday

Washington, July 13—(AP)—With about $66,000,000 already definitely allocated to Federal construction out of the $3,300,000,000 public works fund, the cabinet board in charge of the program turned today to consideration of War Department estimates of more than a half billion dollars for Army construction and river and harbor improvements.

Allocation of the $66,000,000 which was approved yesterday by President Roosevelt will be released for publication tomorrow afternoon, but the detailed projects will not be announced because they are subject to revision by the departments concerned.

More than $40,000,000 of the $66,000,000 is for Boulder Dam and other reclamation projects. Most of the balance is for Agriculture Department improvements.

The announcement tomorrow also will include a list of projects for which about $1,000,000 is to be advanced to municipalities for water works and sewer improvements.

The allocation of $50,000,000 in road funds between national parks, national forests and Indian reservations also will be given.

Officials of the Public Works Administration said the projects authorized cover every state and territory.

Greenville Jury Frees An Alleged Robber Last Eve

Greenville, Ill., July 13—(AP)—A Circuit Court jury today acquitted L. R. Green of a charge of bank robbery, after listening to his assertion that he was not "Oklahoma Slim" McGuire, identified as the thief.

The verdict was returned shortly after midnight and Green, held in custody since his arrest last December in East St. Louis, Ill., was released immediately. A previous trial resulted in a hung jury.

Testimony at the trial featured the appearance of six convicts, one being Art Newman, former lieutenant of Charlie Birger, leader of the southern Illinois gang which bore his name.

Newman, brought to Greenville from Joliet prison, said Green really was "Oklahoma Slim," and aided him in the execution of the $9,500 robbery of the Bond County State Bank of Pocahtontas, in December, 1926.

The other convicts testified for the defense and said Green was not "Oklahoma Slim."

American Bakers In Agreement With Sec. Wallace On Increases

Washington, July 13—(AP)—Secretary Wallace and the President of the American Bakers Association are in agreement that the bread-buyer shall not be unduly penalized because of the tax levied on wheat processing in the crop reduction program.

Henry Stude, the baker, in a letter to Wallace renewed his promise that the baker will pass on to the consumer only so much as he is compelled to pay—and no more.

"No one," he added, "can prove the violation of this pledge."

Wallace subsequently explained he merely had been trying to protect the consumer in making public complaints of "unwarranted increases in bread prices." He expressed gratification that no one questioned the estimate that a one and one-half cent rise in the cost of a pound loaf of bread would reflect all of the tax paid by the men who turn wheat into flour.

Britons Freed From Moscow Prison

A move that led England to resume trade relations with Russia was the release from a Moscow prison of two British engineers sentenced for sabotage. The engineers, William L. McDonald (center) and Leslie Thornton, are pictured as they were met by Mrs. McDonald on their arrival in Berlin from Moscow.

ARLINGTON PARK TO SEE RACE OF SEASON'S GREAT

Champion Of The Three-Year-Olds Will Be Decided 15th.

Chicago, July 13—(AP)—The search for the 1933 three-year-old champion of America will end Saturday with the running of the division's richest event of the season, the $35,000 Classic at Arlington Park.

Every star in training was at the plant today and a field of 14 starters was indicated. Mr. Khayyam, victor in the American Derby, which probably will go to the post favorite; War Glory, son of Man O'War, which won the Dwyer

Stakes, and Golden Way, second in the Withers, arrived yesterday, and others in the prospective field selected the day for sensational final workouts.

Gold Basis, from the stable of Morton L. Schwartz, of New York, whose Gusto won the Classic last year, dazzled the clockers by running the Classic distance, one mile and a quarter, in 2:05 4-5, apparently running well within himself.

Sarada, one of the big favorites for the Kentucky Derby until he developed a cough, made his first start and demonstrated that he is ready by winning a mile event in the excellent time of 1:37. He continued through a mile and an eighth and finished in 1:49 4-5, only two-fifths of a second slower than the track record held jointly by Sun Beau and Blue Larkspur.

Head Play Doubtful
Head Play, winner of the Preakness and second in the famous Kentucky battle of horses and jockeys, went a mile and a quarter in 2:07 3-5, but limped after the test. Trainer Tom Hayes said Head Play had suffered a bruised foot and might not be permitted to start.

Kerry Patch, Belmont Futurity victor last fall, breezed a mile and a quarter in 2:11 and The Darb, winner of the Withers, went the same distance in 2:13 3-5 had held. Barn Swallow, winner of the Kentucky Oaks, went the Classic route in 2:11 3-5, and Edelweiss, the Wheatley stable's winner of the Coaching Club Stakes, polished off with a mile and an eighth in 1:56 2-5 in handy fashion.

Trainer Mat Brady said Mr. Khayyam would not need a hard workout before making his try for the title and big purse.

The probable starters are Jovius Barn Swallow, Okapi, Mr. Khayyam, Pomposity, War Glory, Kerry Patch, Gold Basis, Edelweiss, Sarada, Charley O., the Darb and Golden Way. Technique, Dark Winter Head Play, Projectile and Rush Hour ranked as possibilities, although doubtful.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' in to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Rosent's substitute, 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

New Faces To Be Seen At Oak Ridge Sunday Afternoon

Manager Warner of the Oak Ridge baseball team has signed two new players this week who will appear in Sunday afternoon's game on the Ridge diamond against the Forrester Merchants. Kays, who has presided at second base position and Bill Hargrave at short have moved from Dixon, leaving two of the most important posts without valuable players. Don Hilliker has been signed to play the second base position and John "Paddy" McDonald, a veteran of local teams, will handle the hot spot at short.

The lineup which will be presented against Forrester Sunday afternoon will be as follows: "Bud" Rink in left, Hilliker at second, Kehrt in center, "Shires" Miller at third, "Paddy" McDonald at short, H. McGrath in right, Carroll Reilly at first, Nic McGrath catching and "Smoky Joe" Miller pitching.

The Ridgers stock has not decreased because of their loss to Walton last Sunday and arrangements have already been made for a return game to be played at the Ridge field next month.

IT'S AN OLD STORY

Back in 1928, Clark Griffith was hunting all over the lot for players to send to the Boston Red Sox in exchange for Buddy Myer. Joe Judge, then the Senators' manager, persuaded Griffith to keep Joe, and Joe didn't do a thing but become the best shortstop in baseball and succeed to Walter's job as manager. Now Walter's managing Cleveland, and here's a recent picture of both characters in the drama.

HOW ABOUT THE BALL?
Eddie Collins has been shopping around in the Pacific Coast League and comes up with three new players, Fred Muller, Buck Walters and Mel Almada. How long Red Sox will keep these ivory exhibits is uncertain. You never can tell how far a kangaroo can jump from where you sit.

Mister Collins is one of the smartest men in baseball, and probably realizes what a chance he is taking when he lays money on the line for any kind of minor league ball players nowadays. The reason is the baseball.

BUNT MEANS DOUBLE.
In the coast league they are using what Bill McKechnie, manager of the Braves, calls a cross between a tennis ball and a golf ball. It's the only league in the country where a signal for a bunt results in a two-base hit.

Walters had an average of .367 on the coast. If you want to know what he'll hit for the Red Sox, divide that by two. When Walters was up before with the Braves — after a couple of years of major league practice and observation, he hit for .187 in 22 games.

CUBS COMMENCE TO GO PLACES; NOW IN SECOND

Have Been Hitting In the Right Places Behind Great Pitching

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The champion Chicago Cubs, who haven't been attracting a great deal of attention this season, have climbed unostentatiously into second place in the National League.

While the St. Louis Cardinals and then the league leading New York Giants floundered, the Cubs have been winning games quietly but steadily. They haven't been hitting hard, but their blows have been timely and they have had some great pitching. The result is 13 victories in 18 starts.

The Cubs extended their current winning streak to seven straight yesterday with a 5 to 3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who haven't won a game at Wrigley Field since last July. One fair hit, three Dodger errors and a fly ball which fell in the sun, produced three runs and set the game in the opening inning.

Cards Drop A Peg
The Giants meanwhile shook off their streak of bad fielding as Hal Schumacher presented them another six hit pitching performance, and they defeated St. Louis 3 to 0 to increase their own lead and to shove the Cards down into third place.

The Pittsburgh Pirates interrupted Boston's winning ways by taking a ten inning slugfest 9-8 on Vaughan's triple after the Braves had slammed out all their runs in the ninth inning. The Cincinnati Reds, after a day in the National League cellar, climbed out again by defeating the Phillies 4-1 behind Larry Benton's seven hit flinging.

Senators Hold Lead
Washington's Senators held their place two games ahead of the New York Yankees in the American League race when good pitching netted each team a victory. Washington defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 as Earl Whitehill pitched five hit ball and Bill McAfee finished the job when he began to wobble in the ninth. Johnny Allen's expert elbowing enabled the Yanks to turn in their fifth straight victory, 4-2 against the St. Louis Browns. He gave seven hits and whiffed ten while Ben Chapman and Tony Lazzari got seven of the Yanks ten blows off Ed Wells.

The Boston Red Sox moved a step nearer the top of the second division by outpointing the Detroit Tigers 1-0 in eleven innings when Roy Johnson smacked a single to drive in Rabbit Warstler and break up a mound duel between Lloyd Brown and Vic Sorrell. Jimmie Fox's 25th home run sent the Philadelphia Athletics off on a three run rally in the sixth that produced a 6-4 victory over the sixth place Cleveland Indians.

Boxing Card For Legion Post At Maples This Eve

A feature program consisting of six bouts will be presented this evening at the Crawford Maples arena by the Dixon Athletic association, the first bout starting at 8:30. The program this week is sponsored by the Dixon Post, No. 12, American Legion and the advance sale of tickets assures the largest crowd thus far this season. Jack Sharkey of this city will referee the contests.

JACK DEMPSEY MAY WED STAGE STAR IN NEVADA

Former Champ Boxer Admits Interest In Actress

Kansas City, July 13—(AP)—There was talk of wedding bells among the friends of Jack Dempsey, the former heavyweight boxing champion, and Hannah Williams, actress, as the two headed west today.

Dempsey, who has admitted his interest in the Broadway star, and was reported to have told friends here he and Miss Williams will be married in Reno, Nevada, soon.

He left here by motor car last night for Salt Lake City to referee a bout involving his protégé, Max Baer. Miss Williams was believed to be on her way to Hollywood by train.

The Kansas City Star says Dempsey disclosed plans here to go from Salt Lake City to Reno to marry Miss Williams.

Reno was the scene of divorces of both Dempsey and Miss Williams. Dempsey formerly was married to Estelle Taylor, film star. Miss Williams is the former wife of Roger Wolfe Kahn.

Aked on his arrival here by plane from Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday of reports of a pending marriage, Dempsey said.

"Well, there might be some truth in it. But I'm not going to get married right away."

PETROLLE WINS DISPUTED BOUT FROM DUTCHMAN

Van Klaveren Ordered To Quit By Physician

New York, July 13—(AP)—Billy Petrolle, Duluth welterweight, today holds a somewhat disputed victory over the speedy Hollander, Bep Van Klaveren.

Petrolle was awarded last night's bout at the Polo Grounds on a technical knockout in the fourth round when Dr. Joseph Sheridan, New York State Athletic Commission physician, ordered the fight stopped because of a deep gash in Van Klaveren's right eye.

The interruption came between the fourth and fifth rounds, after Van Klaveren's seconds apparently had checked the bleeding. The "Dutch Windmill" put up a protest that lasted almost as long as the bout before he finally was induced to leave the ring. He followed referee Billy Cavanaugh around trying to persuade him to let the fight continue and then dared Petrolle to get up and continue.

Billy seemed willing, and checked his famous Navajo blanket, but that was as far as it got inside the ring. Outside the fans took sides and put on a few impromptu bouts of their own.

Up to the sudden end of the scrap, Van Klaveren made a highly impressive showing in his first "big time" fight. He outsped Petrolle and easily won the first round and made a game stand after Billy landed a couple of sharp lefts on his eye, which was damaged when he came into the ring.

Petrolle weighed 144 pounds, Van Klaveren 145½.

Bush Gets Control Of His Screw Ball

Chicago, July 13—(AP)—Guy Bush's long arduous quest for control of his screw ball has been rewarded.

Yesterday while trimming the Brooklyn Dodgers for his tenth victory of the season, the Chicago Cub right hander finally broke down after 22 2-3 innings and issued a base on balls. He finished the game without walking another man, for a record of one pass in 30 innings.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON — The circumstances under which Justice Benjamin Cardozo came to the Supreme Court made it natural that his opinions should be compared with those of his predecessor, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

And since Cardozo filled the vacancy left by the aged Holmes' retirement to private life, there have been occasions on which eminent lawyers have made favorable comparisons, with these opinions as measuring sticks.

Hailed as a liberal when President Hoover named him to the court, Justice Cardozo soon gave indication that he was not wedded to precedent. The first words he spoke from the bench were in disagreement with the majority.

It was regarded significant that joining with him in that dissent were Justices Brandeis and Stone, who so often had joined with Holmes—"the great dissenter."

REMORSELESS LOGIC— "Judges march at times," he once wrote, "to pitiless conclusions under the prod of a remorseless logic which is supposed to leave them no alternative."

"They deplore the sacrificial rite. They perform it, none the less, with averted gaze, convinced as they plunge the knife that they obey the bidding of their office. The victim is offered up to the gods of jurisprudence on the altar of regularity."

Perhaps one decision will be written in swift, graphic fashion leaving a simple word picture of what transpired. Another will contain hard, crisp reasoning.

AS WITNESS— Two recent decisions are illustrative. One dealt with a man who was alleged to have stripped himself of assets in a family corporation so as to protect it against creditors.

"The business was a family affair," he wrote, "and strangers were not welcome in the family preserve. A time arrived when the unwilling stranger seemed to break in. The family combined to maintain its solidarity."

In a jury contempt case in which the court decided against the defendant, the justice's hard and rounded reasoning is evident.

"For the origin of the privilege (jury secrecy)," he wrote, "we are referred to ancient usage and for its defense to public policy. Freedom of debate might be stifled and independence of thought checked if jurors were made to feel that their arguments and ballots were to be freely published to the world."

But the recognition of a privilege does not mean that it is without conditions or exceptions."

THIS elaborately carved monolith erected about 471 A. D. is one of the most famous of the Mayan monuments. It was unearthed at Quirigua, one of the ancient cities, long buried, which flourished on our continent hundreds of years before the white man discovered America—centuries also before the Empire of the Montezumas reached its zenith. The fact that most of the Mayan ruins seem to have been temples and public buildings leads to the belief that these ancient so-called cities were merely religious and civic centers with the population living on farms nearby.

The ruins of Quirigua were discovered in the heart of the jungles of Guatemala, one of the Central American countries included in the route of the weekly cruises between New York and California. The most interesting of Quirigua's ruins are richly inscribed stelae and the gigantic forms of grotesque animals carved from rock. Stelae—tall, shaft-like stone monuments—were erected by the Mayans every five, ten, or twenty years to record the passage of time. The Quirigua monuments present the most complete 5-year records of any of the cities yet discovered. In addition to featuring the exact dates upon which they were built the stelae bear sculptured upon them life-size human figures believed to be the high priest, or king, in power during the period; they are almost covered with hieroglyphs which are believed to record the outstanding events of the period. These inscriptions could undoubtedly clear up much of the mystery still surrounding this ancient race but unfortunately archeologists have not yet succeeded in completely unraveling this picture-writing.

J. M. Bartie, in "Dear Brutus" said there were three things which a man can never recall: the spoken word, the past life, and the neglected opportunity.

TRADE TREATIES AIM OF UNITED STATES ENVOYS

Hold Conversations On Trade At London Eco- nomic Conference

London, July 13—(AP)—With the world economic conference apparently drawing to an inconclusive close, the United States is inaugurating efforts to tighten trade bonds with individual nations, particularly neighbors in the Western Hemisphere.

It was learned authoritatively today that behind the scenes of the conference quiet diplomacy is opening the way for negotiating a series of trade agreements when Secretary of State Cordell Hull and his colleagues return to Washington.

The first of these is expected to be with Argentina, Canada, Mexico, and various Latin American nations will probably follow. Japanese delegates also have approached Hull on the subject.

One of the features of the parity has been the close and friendly cooperation of countries of North and South America. This friendship may be continued with the sending of a high government official to Montevideo, Uruguay, for a commercial conference in December.

Speaking unofficially, one delegate expressed the belief that the Western Hemisphere and the Orient constitute the best commercial field for development by the United States, at least for the present. Preliminary conversations of Thomas A. Le Breton, Argentine Ambassador to France and former envoy to Washington, and members of the American delegation here are said to have progressed so well that the actual framing of a treaty can soon begin.

FACTOR IS GIVEN HIS FREEDOM LAST EVE IN LA GRANGE

Factor was taken to the police station and later was brought to his Chicago hotel, where he told Captain Gilbert and Police Lieutenant Blaul that his abductors had demanded $500,000 ransom and had threatened him when he told them he couldn't raise the money.

When they demanded that he get the money from rich friends he said he told them that he wouldn't put them on the spot.

Was Kept Blindfolded
A farm house, northwest of Chicago was believed by Factor to have been his place of imprisonment but he was not certain because during the entire period of his captivity he was blindfolded with tape, which was not removed until a few minutes before his release.

He was driven to LaGrange in an automobile with three men. Other members of the gang were in two other cars, one preceding and one following the machine in which Factor rode.

Factor said there were ten or fifteen hoodlums in the gang that held him.

Released just before midnight last night in suburban LaGrange, the usually debonaire Factor, who is reported to have made "big money" in the markets, told a story of mistreatment by his captors, but denied, as did members of his family that any ransom had been paid.

There were reports, however, that anywhere from $75,000 to $200,000 had been paid to effect his release.

Captain Gilbert said he believed that a large ransom was paid, and Traffic Policeman Eugene Cortesi of LaGrange said that Factor himself had admitted that there had

Unshaven and ill-appearing in other respects, the man who is wanted by the British government for an alleged $7,000,000 swindle in England, approached Policeman Cortesi and Policeman Gerard of River Forest, at the main business intersection in LaGrange and announced:

"I'm John Factor."

BARGAIN BRIDE

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 20, falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN, 35, who has returned to New York after years abroad. Barrett has made a name for himself as an archeologist. Elinor returns his affection but her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells her that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives. Elinor agrees, knowing the money may save her father's life.

The marriage takes place next day. Barrett, still believing the lies Lida has told him, finds himself falling in love with Elinor again. Years before he shielded his half-sister, MARCIA, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. She is constantly in fear that her husband may learn this and she forces Barrett to promise he will never tell anyone the truth of the affair.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII

AS Barrett made ready for the night he heard Elinor moving about in the next room. She had not turned the key in the lock, he realized, and by that small omission had made plain her trust in him. He dallied long over his cigarette.

He would make her as comfortable in his home as she could be, he vowed. She must have all the pretty things she had lacked. He would tell her next day that he had transferred to her account the exact sum that had been left him by Miss Ella Sexton's will. After that, he reflected, he would probably know further disillusionment. She might pay the bills for her father's illness, decide $1,000 was enough for the Thropes and keep the rest for herself. That, however, was not his business. He had done all he could to return the fortune to Miss Ella's relatives.

And sure enough there was trouble about the money, but not the trouble he had expected. Three days later Barrett arrived home toward the close of the afternoon to find Elinor waiting for him in the hall.

She said, "Barrett, will you help me? I'm sorry to trouble you but I've worked and worked and nothing comes right. I'm so stupid!"

"What am I here for?" he questioned, slipping from his coat with unusual haste.

"It's about Aunt Ella's money," she explained. She sighed, "I never was at all clever about figures."

"We won't worry over that," he comforted her. "We'll fix it in no time."

The gratitude in her glance made him look away.

"I wish you knew," she said, "how fine I think you are—how wonderful you've been about all this!"

"My dear child, that's ridiculous!"

"No, it isn't. It would kill me if you fell in love with anyone and were hurt by this. I don't know what I'd do!"

She was twisting a handkerchief, staring at him with eyes not yet world-wise enough to be able to veil any tragedy.

"You're an adorable child," he said, "and you're talking nonsense. Now suppose we go to the library and look over your problem?"

THEY settled side by side before his big desk. Humbly and with some embarrassment Elinor gave him a paper on which she had written very carefully large figures under the names, "Bessie," "Mother," "Father."

He considered these as his brows tightened. "But you'll have nothing left for yourself!" he objected.

"Why, I don't need anything! I couldn't, really, take it. I'd feel as if I'd been small, scheming, working for myself—"

He turned to face her. "Of course," he said slowly, "you'll have your alimony—"

"Oh, no! I couldn't take anything from you!"

"Look here, child!" He moved, speaking, to face her more fully. "We should have had this out before we were married but since we didn't, here goes. Do you think I would let any woman—or stubborn youngster—be my wife without seeing to it that she was provided for adequately when the time and circumstance makes her cease to be my wife?"

"I don't know," he had never seen her more feminine—madly, alluringly so. "But I can't," Elinor went on, "I really can't take any money from anyone—as things are. Don't you see?"

"No, I don't see!"

"But—"

"How are you planning to care for yourself?" he broke in. Again he glanced at the page on which was charted her plan to give away every cent of Miss Sexton's vast fortune.

"Well," she explained slowly, "I can give music lessons. I thought of doing that when father was first taken sick but I realized I could only earn enough to support myself. I can do that, though. I'm sure I can!"

"Yes?" he queried grimly. He would see her doing it, he reflected satirically.

"Yes, really. And at night I could play in a restaurant."

HE laughed shortly. "But it happens," he pointed out, his lowered eyelids making his gaze a condensed slit, "that I won't have that! You playing in some damned restaurant!"

"I could clerk or be a social secretary—if you preferred that," she offered meekly. "I could do almost anything you thought to be suitable. I'm very strong—"

"My God!" he flung out. "Excuse me, Elinor—" He pushed back his chair, arose and crossed the room. He had not dreamed that she could be so obstinate.

The girl sat still, crushed by his disapproval. "It's a year ahead," she pointed out timidly. "Perhaps by then we can come to some arrangement that will satisfy us both."

He had been rather unnecessarily dramatic, he realized, but the idea of her slaving, wearing herself out and doing without had made him feel as he had never felt.

"I won't do anything you don't want me to do!" she promised. There were tears in her eyes.

"Child," he muttered, "if you promise me that, all this is unnecessary!"

"I do promise it. I owe you too much to hurt you. But I can't take any of Aunt Ella's money, nor any from you—"

The thawing moment was gone. He laughed mirthlessly.

"I'm going to keep enough to support myself while I'm here," Elinor went on.

He flushed deeply. "That," he said, "is the first really unkind thing I've heard you say."

"But Barrett—"

"Elinor!" Again he sat down beside her. "I am going to support you while you are in this house and you're going to be suitably garbed. You're not going to ride on buses—"

She smiled at that a little but his face did not change.

"Your allowance will be adequate and I don't want you to hoard it."

"Oh, dear!" she murmured. "And, what's more, I can't see you give away all Miss Ella's fortune without a protest," he added.

"You aren't!" she stated with her first and last attempt at humor that day.

AN hour later their voices had grown a bit shrill from strain. She was nervous and thoroughly upset. Elinor realized, as she dressed for dinner, she had not dreamed he could be so belligerent. He had insisted she must buy twice as many frocks as any woman could need. He spoke of her allowance and the amount staggered her.

"I don't want to be an expense," she had objected. "Can't you understand?"

To which he had replied with a frozen, "No!"

Higgins, serving their dinner, was depressed. They had been married less than a week and obviously they had had their first quarrel. They hardly spoke when he was in the room but when he was out of it they went on with their discussion. Entering softly, Higgins heard her saying, "I'm not a mule. I only—," and Barrett's response, "If you're not a mule just what do you think you are?"

After dinner Barrett sat in the library and Elinor, in the drawing room, played wistful tunes. At 10 she went upstairs without saying good night.

Barrett called for a whisky and soda and a little later for another whisky and soda. He mounted the stairs wearily at 11. But in his room he forgot weariness. The door was open.

"Barrett?" he heard.

"Yes," he heard the door with a few eager strides.

"I want to speak with you a moment—if you'll come in?"

CONGRESS WILL BALK AT LOSING ITS PATRONAGE

Pres. Roosevelt's Desire To Extend Civil Ser- vice Opposed

Washington, July 13—(AP)—President Roosevelt's move to place all Postmasters under civil service fell with a thud today on Democrats in Congress who realized suddenly that about 15,000 jobs thus would be taken out of the political patronage category.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee, chairman of the Postoffice Committee and ranking Democrat on the Civil Service Committee, predicted Congress would reject a bill such as the President recommended to require that all first, second and third class postmasters be under civil service.

The appointments are now and have been for years appointed by the President on recommendation of Senators and Representatives.

Only fourth class postmasters are at present required to stand civil service examinations.

Order A Surprise
Pending submission of the bill at the next session, the President ordered all future applicants for postmasterships now filled by political appointment to take examinations unless they are already qualified under civil service or regularly commissioned postmasters.

The order and legislative recommendation surprised House Democrats, but many of those in the city refused to comment pending a study of the order and inquiries to determine its full significance and all the reasons for it.

It is the members of the House who control the postmaster patronage. Senators are reserving the right to recommend appointments only in their home cities.

June Beebe, Chicago, Has Golf Monopoly

Chicago, July 13—(AP)—June Beebe of Chicago, has the Women's Western Golf Association situation well under control. In fact, to date, she has a monopoly.

Yesterday she shot a final round in 78—par figures—to win the 72 hole medal play derby by fourteen strokes, with a total of 326.

Two weeks ago she captured the Women's Western Open, at match play, for the second successive year and won the medal.

She trailed Rena Nelson, another Chicagoan by four strokes at the end of the first 18 holes, but to her 83 she added rounds of 80, 85 and 78. Miss Nelson was second with 340, while Mrs. H. Austin Pardue of Minneapolis and Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt, the 1932 winner, tied for third at 343.

PROCEDURE TO GET FARM LOAN OF GOVERNMENT

The Associated Press Has Explanation Of New Relief Statutes

(Editor's Note: This is the second and last of a series of articles in which The Associated Press answers questions often asked by farmers concerning the proper methods to go about obtaining loans from the Federal Land Bank.)

Washington, July 13 — (AP) — When the ordinary farmer sets about to refinance his farm under the emergency farm mortgage act, he makes his application to the nearest Farm Loan Association. This organization, a cooperative organized for the purpose of closely centralizing responsibility, turns the certified application over to the Federal Land Bank and, if all conditions are met, promptly sends back the required money.

The farmer-borrower, who obtains a loan from a bank through a National Farm Loan Association purchases stock in the association in the amount of 5 per cent of his loan.

The amount necessary to pay for such stock may be included in the face amount of the loan obtained from the Federal Land Bank. The capital contribution made by each member of the association in purchasing its stock is equally and ratably responsible for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such association.

Where the farmer borrows directly from the land bank, he enters into a similar contract, purchasing a similar amount of stock.

Generally, loans by the banks are payable in semi-annual installments, although in some land districts loans are made on an annual payment basis. In addition to the interest due on the loan a sum is added which, when applied to the principal, will amortize or pay off the loan and extinguish the debt of the borrower in the period specified in the mortgage.

For example, a semi-annual payment of $30 will retire in 36 years a $1000 loan bearing 5 per cent interest under the amortization plan which has been used more generally by the banks.

The rate of interest charged on loans made through National Farm Loan associations may not exceed by more than one per cent the rate of interest borne by the bids last issued by the bank except with the approval of the governor of the Farm Credit Administration. When the bonds sold carry an interest rate of four per cent, for example, a bank may charge 5 per cent on loans to farmers.

In case a farmer wishes to transfer his mortgage from a private bank to a Federal Land Bank, he may do so providing the mortgage was made prior to May 12, 1933 and that the sum of the mortgage does not exceed 50 per cent of the normal value of the land plus 20 per cent of the value of the permanent insured improvements.

This transaction is consummated by the mortgage accepting bonds from the land bank. These bonds are acceptable by the U. S. Treasury as security for government deposits, including postal savings.

Everyday Religion

"YOUTH IN THE RED"
By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton
Here are words to make one pause: "Would you write an article for us, the youth of the present day, who are in many cases sadly in need of enlightenment and encouragement, but find ourselves adrift on the charless sea of life—alone? While the hands that should be at the wheel, the guiding lights that should show us the way are concerned with more penurious problems, youth is floundering on the reefs of despair."

Yes, youth is in the red because we who are older have made such an utter mess of the world, and we are still at it. No generation ever had a worse break, except "the lost generation" slaughtered in the shambles of the World War, or left to drift as a derelict. What wonder that they ditch our dogmas, repudiate our religion, scorn our alleged idealism, and denounce our civilization as ridiculous—we deserve it, every bit of it.

Yes it is due not to deliberate wickedness, but to sheer dull stupidity. Men desire life, not death; truth, not lies; happiness, not misery. This is the great tragedy—the world is ruled by men no longer young whose ideals are damaged and dim. Yes, "penurious" is the word; faith is a frozen asset and we have put our dreams on allowance. Fear grips us, selfishness blinds us, greed guides us, and no one sees any way out of the bog.

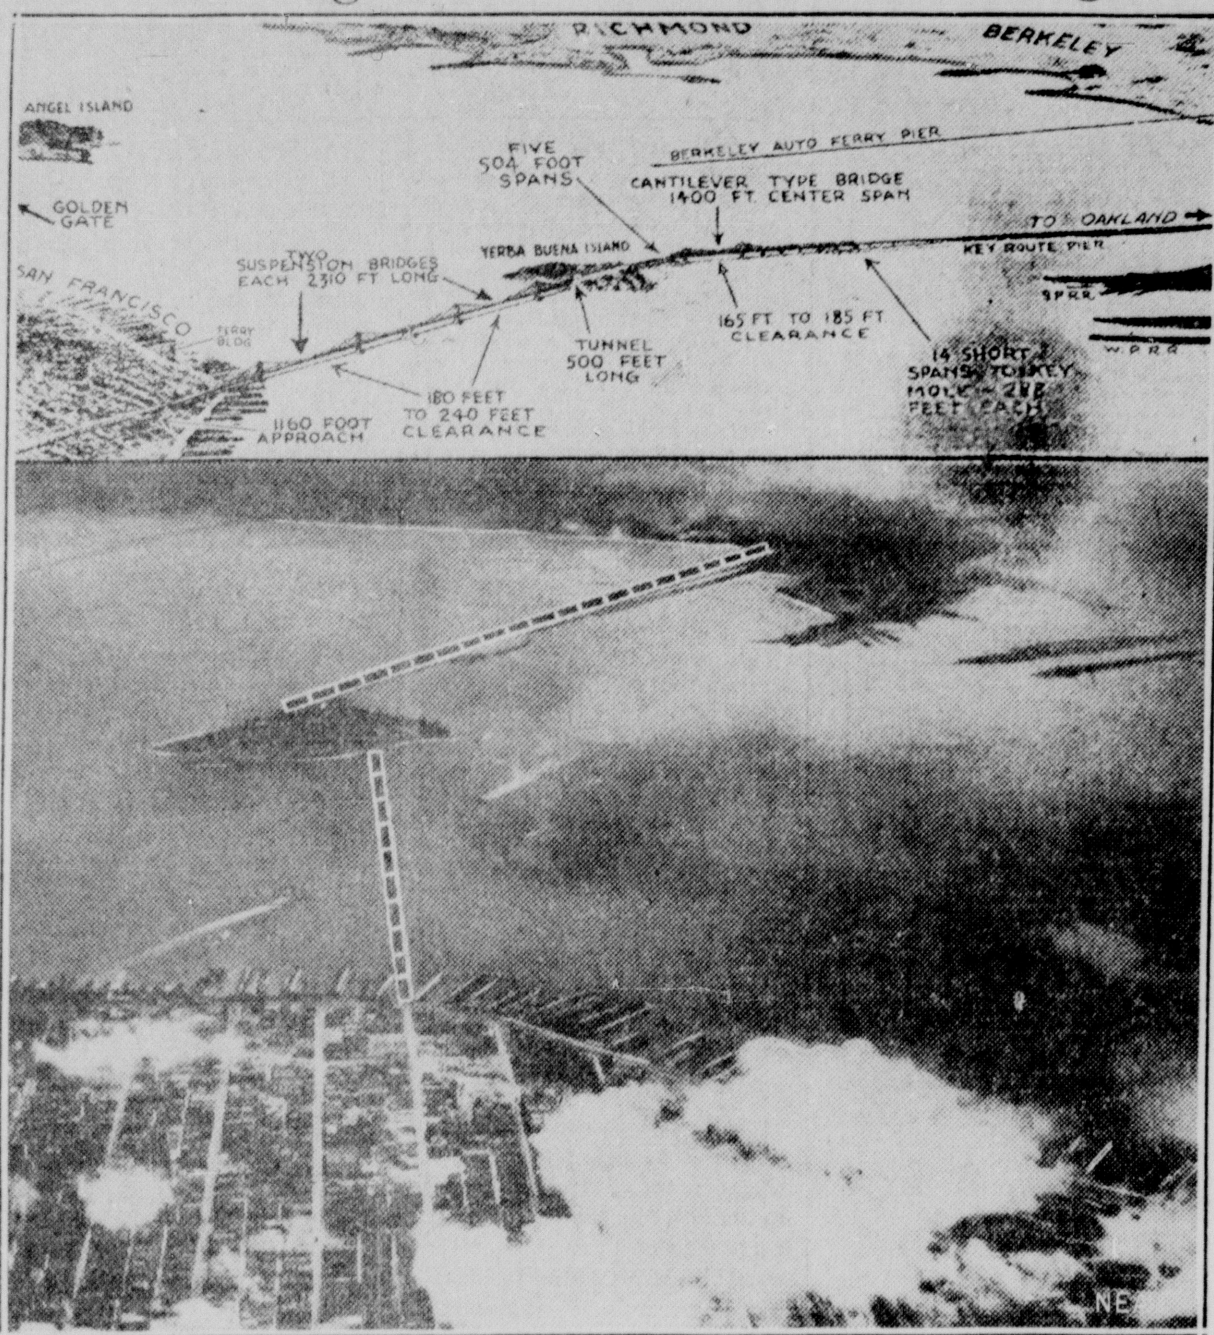

Youth is our only hope, and the young folk of today are the finest the world ever knew, candid, clear-seeing, less inhibited, and freer. They have as much religion as is imbedded in our social order, but that is very little in a world of wrong creeds and strong greed—greeds that last, as do the greeds, even after they have been found out. The depth of our failure is the measure of their opportunity, if they have the wit to take it.

What are we to do about it?

Work Begins on World's Greatest Bridge

Following formal dedication ceremonies in which both President Roosevelt and ex-President Hoover participated, work has begun on the $75,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland bridge, greatest in the world, which eventually will give employment to 12,000 persons. The above diagram and aerial photo show the scene of the project, with San Francisco in the foreground, Yerba Buena Island in the center and Oakland in the distance. Hoover broke ground at Yerba Buena Island with a golden spade, while Roosevelt pressed a telegraph key in Washington that set off dynamite blasts that started excavation at all three places.

Where do we go from here? To give up is to go down. If youth is caught in a trap, it must break it and get out. Despair is defeat, fatalism is futility. Youth must wake up, get up, demand the life to which it has the right, and not stop until it makes a world fit to live in. The future lies in the hands of youth, if it will take it and shape it to a fairer, finer pattern—we are done!

Daily Health Talk

TONSILS, ADENOIDS AND EARS
Unhealthy tonsils and enlarged adenoids may give rise to a variety of ear symptoms, the most common being ear pains and periodic attacks of deafness likely to be more prominent during a cold.

The ear pains and intermittent attacks of deafness are thought due to pressure of large masses of adenoid tissue against the openings of the internal canal of the ear in the throat.

The ear canal, called the Eustachian tube, runs from the outside ear to the throat and is divided into two sections by the ear drum. The air pressures on the side of the drum facing the outside and in that portion of the canal leading to the throat, must be equal, or else the free movement of the drum is interfered with and relative deafness results.

When the external air pressure differs from the internal pressure, we are prompted to swallow. This act tends to open the throat portion of the canal, and so equalizes the pressure.

When, however, the adenoids are large enough to compress the inner opening of the Eustachian tube, a sensation of pain is produced. Partial deafness may result from the interference with the admission of air into the inner portion of the Eustachian canal.

This condition may lead to permanent changes in the inner portion of the ear canal. Catarrhal inflammation may be produced, with the result that the canal becomes permanently constricted, if not completely blocked.

In such a condition it becomes necessary at times to "blow up the ear," connecting a tube, inserted through the nose, with the inner opening of the Eustachian tube and forcing air into the ear canal.
